

Meeting for Independent Professionals who advise

31st March 2026, 5:30 to 7:30pm
Online

- If you are an independent professional advising older people in England
- With any specialism including social care, therapy, health, advice, law, finance
- Who wants to co-create better 'advice' experiences and options

Please join us

As we get older, we may need additional support, and we all want to stay in control of what happens. Since information and advice is not reliably provided by the state, enabling us to access it privately helps to relieve pressures on local authorities, avoid waits and act as a catalyst for better options to be imagined and co-created. This creativity and the wide range of options we come up with benefits everyone, not just those of us who fund ourselves.

We want to build a network of independent professionals who offer advice to older people so we can share learning, support each other and enhance options for people who pay for and manage their own care (self-funders).

Come to our meeting to find out more and connect with others.

We have a dream...of a world where older people, especially those of us who need a bit more help than we did, can continue to live adventurous and fulfilled lives. Where we are valued for all we have experienced and learned. Where everything that we know and are good at can still be shared and useful. And where, when we do need help, we get it in the right way and at the right time so that we can carry on giving, living, and loving.
